

Click here to make todaysthv.com y

Search The Web: Go

Powered By Google™

THV Story Search Go

Enter a keyword in the text box.

TODAY'S HEADLINES

Today's Headlines | THV Extras | The Kitchen Sink | Business | MarketWatch News | Education | Science | Travel | Entertainment | Tech | Politics | Health & Medicine | Religion | Most Viewed Stories

Board Asks Judge To Fine, Close Payday Lender

The owner of a string of payday lending companies was accused Tuesday by regulators of having siphoned cash from his businesses after being fined and ordered by the state to shut down.

A court filing by the Arkansas State Board of Collection Agencies claims that Dennis Bailey "has taken large sums of cash from the stores (and) swept the bank accounts" of his businesses. The filing says Bailey moved the money to avoid paying more than $1.3 million in fines.

Bailey earlier asked a circuit judge to issue a stay on the board's order. The board is asking the court to order Bailey to pay the fine.

Paul Johnson, a lawyer for Bailey, said Tuesday that he expects there will be a hearing on the matter. The filings are before Pulaski County Circuit Judge Marion Humphrey.

Home Page
News & Extras
Photo / Video
Weather
THV This Morning
Sports
Community
Blogs
FYI
What's On THV?
Travel
Careers
Contact Us
Team THV
Special Sections
Advertise on THV

(Copyright 2006 by The Associated Press. All Rights Reserved.)

Monika Rued, Web Producer
Created: 7/11/2006 2:05:21 PM
Updated: 7/11/2006 2:05:57 PM

E-mail This Article
 Printable Version